Foreword

Preface of 1st ever online published edition

Welcome publishers, researchers, and readers,

By this issue; issue 3, Volume 23 (2019), we are pleased to announce that we started 1st online publication.

We are glad to invite you to visit and have a look at our web site's online home page at <http://smj.journals.ekb.eg>.

Upgrading to a new phase of publication (to the online digital world) is a step of advancement that serve side-by-side with our view & updated goals of ;

- Providing medical scientific research and updated knowledge to everyone looking for.
- Encouraging & attracting national and international researchers & publications.
- Moving to the direction of international participation in scientific medical advancement via providing a place for national & international scientific publishers to offering their competing updating work and researches through our free access Journal.

You again invited to visit, navigate and of course are welcomed to register in our web site <http://smj.journals.ekb.eg>. Your comments & advice are truly appreciated, don't hesitate to contact us freely. official Email: smj2019@med.sohag.edu.eg

Finally, I'd like to thank the team of the Egyptian Academy of Scientific Research and Technology (ASRT) for their great work and great continuous maintenance and professional support .

Also we shouldn't miss to thank dr. Osama Morad, the editing manager, organizer and active icon in that project of advancement. As well as our active team work in the journal for their efforts.
